

GILEAD

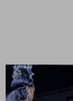

Gilead wanted to rethink how a global healthcare brand could show up in culture. The goal was to move from corporate messaging to genuine community impact, with a focus on visibility and equity for

We built the creative foundation for Gilead's Advancing Health Equity initiative. Our team developed the visual identity system, the creative guidelines, the campaign language, and the programs that carried the work into real communities. That included ways to life through activations such as the HBCU Roadshow, Essence Festival, and Mary J. Blige's Strength of a Woman
